

PHE 382: Sport in Society

This course is designed to acquaint students with the principles and applications of social issues within the sport industry. Topics such as gender, disability, race, ethnicity, aggression, politics, religion, and class and social mobility will be studied.

Credits: Credits 3

Semester Offered:

Semester Offered

Offered fall semester.