

REL 112: New Testament

This course provides an overview of the emergent Christian community of the early Christian era (from the time of Jesus to the end of the Apostolic Age), the literary character of the scriptures it produced and the theological content of those scriptures. NOTE: Students may not take both REL 110 and the REL 111-112 sequence as their content will overlap.

Credits: Credits 3

Semester Offered:

Semester Offered

Offered at departmental discretion.