

REL 207: From the Reformation to the Present (History of Christianity II; ca. 1500-Present)

This course examines the history of Christianity from the Protestant Reformation through the emergence of the modern era to contemporary events in Christian History. Particular attention will be given to the rise of denominationalism, the history of Christianity in America, various reactions to modern social, political, and scientific theory, and the encounter of Christianity with non-European cultures through missionary and colonizing activity. This course may be taken by History Majors to complete degree requirements in the field of History.

Credits: Credits 3

Semester Offered:

Semester Offered

Offered at departmental discretion.

Core Tags:

Core Tags

CE