

SOC 236: Social Psychology

A study of the characteristics of the individual in relation to social groups, focusing on interpersonal attraction, aggression, conformity, attitude formation and change, socialization, and small group dynamics.

Credits: Credits 3

Notes:

Notes

Crosslisted with PSY 236.

Prerequisites:

Prerequisites

SOC 101 or PSY 120

Semester Offered:

Semester Offered

Offered fall semester, odd-numbered years.