

THE 110: Theatre Appreciation

Theatre Appreciation is meant to encourage an understanding and appreciation of Theatre from its beginnings to the present, including a study of various works of dramatic literature. Through the works of significant playwrights, Theatre, as a form of art, is defined and related to expressions of human culture and to other arts. Attendance at on-campus Theatre productions is required; attendance at off-campus productions may be required during summer semesters. Recommended for non-majors.
