

SML 520: Business of Sport

Sport is a multi-billion dollar industry with complex interdependencies of businesses and regulatory agencies. This course will examine fundamental business structure, operations and risk management. This course will also explore economic climate and policy economic issues raised by the rapid changes in the modern sports world. Students will explore sport organization management and leadership challenges across domestic and international contexts.

Credits: Credits 3