

CRJ 212: Correctional Systems

This course is an introduction to the major characteristics, components, functions and issues of the correctional system in Criminal Justice. An overview of processes, organization, clients incarcerated, on probation, parole and other programs will be presented.

Credits: Credits 3

Semester Offered:

Semester Offered

Offered every spring semester.