

CRJ 315: Victimology

This course introduces the students to the field of victimology. The course will emphasize the theoretical and empirical approach to the examination of victims, as well as, identify different types of victims and how to assist those victims.

Credits: Credits 3

Semester Offered:

Semester Offered

Offered every spring semester.