

EDU 224: Foundation of Teaching and Learning

A survey course focusing on the foundations of education, including the characteristics and expectations of the profession. Content includes the historical, philosophical, legal, governance and societal influences on American schools. Emphasis is placed on the Newberry College Conceptual Framework Standards and Dispositions for Teaching.

Credits: Credits 3

Notes:

Notes

Required of all education candidates. Candidates should take EDU 224 and EDU 230 in different semesters.

Teacher Cadet will be transferred in as dual enrollment for EDU 224.

Semester Offered:

Semester Offered

Course Offered each semester.