

HON 302 : Culture and Society

An examination between the values, traditions, and institutions that support and define 21st century society. As we shape our future in all arenas (e.g., social, economic, political, religious), what questions must we ask, what values must we act upon, what road must we take? What are the possibilities for the future based on our study of the continuities and changes evident in the human story? Particular themes may vary from year to year.
